Legislature Continues On The Daily Routine Of Business--Much Will Be Done Towards Accomplishing Results.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., March 20.—Senator Owen today withdrew his bill to exempt the chief clerkship in the state department from the merit law. The bill was offered for Secretary of State Frear, who desired to appoint his campaign manager, L. B. Nagler, as chief clerk, and which the civil service commission refused to exempt. Nagler stood in the competitive examination and was, therefore, eligible for the appointment and Frear did not need the bill.

Spring Vacation
The assembly today agreed to take a spring vacation from March 23 to April 8, after a debate in which Messrs. Everett and Haring protested against making the session long by stopping work.

Unchanged Plans
The senatorial situation today remains unchanged apparently, although there is an increased activity of members and political workers buzzing around the capitol—between candidates' headquarters and the law office of Senator La Follette. After holding the conference with his leaders he left for the west on a lecture trip.

La Follette Goes

Senator La Follette last night practically admitted the fact that his efforts to centralize his forces upon Isaac Stephenson for United States senator had failed.

It is true that the afternoon and evening was devoted to a fitful showing of vigorous argument to some of the members who called that Stephenson was his choice and that he had hoped the legislature could see its way clear to elect him. In the main, however, the meetings and conferences resolved themselves into visits, in some cases the members not even being given private audiences.

La Follette's Efforts Fail
So far as La Follette is concerned the effort to make Stephenson senator has not only failed miserably, judged by present results of his homecoming, but has brought a demonstration. Accepting La Follette's personal effort for what it no doubt was, a bona-fide attempt on his part to elect the Marinette man, the men who were interviewed by him confess that much of the oldtime effectiveness and aggressiveness was entirely lacking and some assert that no attempt was made by him to force a vote for his favorite.

No Evidence of Results
La Follette they say, told them plainly and squarely what he would like to see done and gave his reasons why he believed Stephenson should be made senator. With a few exceptions every La Follette member of the legislature was brought into personal contact with the senator, but when it came to results there was no evidence that the attitude of more than a possible half dozen was changed, and there is doubt about this.

TO BLOCK ATLANTIC COAST PROPRIETOR

Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company Fighting Charles W. Morse.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Baltimore, Md., March 20.—At today's annual meeting of the Merchants and Miners' Transportation Company the necessary steps will be taken to consummate the community of interest agreement with the New York, Hartford and New England line, with a view to blocking the plans of Charles W. Morse for control of all coastwise lines from New England to the Gulf. The Merchants and Miners' is to make an exchange of securities with the railroad. In order to do this the annual meeting will probably decide to increase the issue of capital stock. As soon as the plans are worked out the combined force will make a strong bid for new Florida and Gulf business in competition with the Morse lines. A new steamship line from Baltimore to Jacksonville may be the first move, and the extension will probably be continued until several Gulf ports are made terminals of trade from Baltimore and Philadelphia.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Evansville, Ind., March 20.—Satisfied that the coming season will be the most successful in the history of their organization, the managers of the Central League gathered here today for their schedule meeting. With the Evansville and Terre-Haute teams thoroughly reorganized, the managers are of the opinion that this season will be as interesting as the contest three years ago, when all the clubs were fighting for the pennant. Besides adopting a schedule, the meeting will go on record as being opposed to any kind of a change in the circuit, and may also take steps by which the three-year agreement, which expires this season, will be renewed.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., March 20.—Active steps are at last being taken to save from destruction the old Key Mansion, occupied by Francis Scott Key, who wrote "The Star Spangled Banner." The old mansion is located in Georgetown and is in a state of decay, having been neglected for many years. Several unsuccessful efforts have been made to preserve the historic house, but no real progress was made until United States District Attorney Baker proposed to organize a corporation to raise funds with which to purchase the mansion. Admiral Dewey, Admiral Schley, General Miles and many other distinguished officers of the army and navy have given cooperation to the movement.

PRESIDENT OF HARVARD FOR THIRTY-EIGHT YEARS

Of Life.

1834—Born in Boston, March 20.
1849—Was graduated from Boston Latin School.
1853—Graduated from Harvard College.
1853—Appointed tutor in mathematics at $666.66 a year.
1869—Elected President of Harvard.
1879—Founded Radcliffe College.
1892—Toured United States.
1895—Toured Europe.
1903—Commented on small families of Harvard men.
1904—Took issue with Samuel Gompers on question of labor unions.
1905—Assailed college football as a brutal sport.
1907—Indorsed idea of separate schools for negroes.

Numerous messages of congratulation were received during the day from other colleges, from diplomats, from public men, educational associations, and from Harvard clubs scattered from New York to the Rocky Mountains. A number of these messages, including one from the faculty and students of Harvard, were forwarded to President and Mrs. Eliot, who are enjoying a brief vacation in Bermuda. President Eliot has achieved the remarkable distinction of being the Harvard President for more than half his life, for he was only thirty-five when he assumed the duties of his high office. Fifty-four years he has devoted to the cause of education, for during the two or three years of his early life when he was not teaching he was studying university administration abroad and gathering information which has been so successfully applied for the development of Harvard.

No other man was ever President of Harvard for so long a period as that which distinguishes Mr. Eliot's life. When he entered Harvard in 1849 there was one of 534 students; now there are about 4500. His salary as tutor for the first year after his graduation was $666.66. Now he receives $10,000 was seventy-three years old today.

KEEP RECORDS OF ALL SALES IN LEAF MARKET

Tobacco Men Are Ready To Meet Any Emergency In The Business From Now On.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Washington, D. C., March 15.—The Internal Revenue Bureau of the Treasury Department has ruled that dealers in leaf tobacco, establishing branch warehouses for the receipt, storage, and shipment of leaf tobacco, must register and keep Book 59 at least one warehouse or main place of business in each district in which such business is carried. The ruling is to take effect July 1st next and is in the form of a letter to the collector of Internal Revenue at Madison. It reads as follows:

"Referring to your several communications relative to the manner of handling leaf tobacco by persons in your district purchasing same from producers or others, and the matter of liability of these persons or firms to register as dealers in leaf tobacco and keep Book 59 at each warehouse where they receive, assort, pack, or store leaf tobacco, it is held that he or they shall register and keep Record 59 at at least one of such warehouses in each collection district, and in such book there shall be entered a record of all leaf tobacco purchased and received and sold, transferred or shipped, from the several warehouses within the same collection district. Each registered dealer in leaf tobacco is to confine his entries in Book 59 to transactions taking place from the several warehouses under such registration. Sales and shipments of leaf tobacco to himself as dealer in leaf tobacco or manufacturers in other places (districts) are to be entered in his book in your district and the same will be accounted for by the leaf dealer or manufacturer to whom sold, shipped, or transferred. For instance, a dealer in New York may own and operate several such warehouses in your district, and under this ruling will be required to register and keep Book 59 at one of these several warehouses, which will be regarded as his main office or place of business; but any sales made and delivered from these several warehouses on orders from the owner of the tobacco in New York or elsewhere must be entered in Book 59 at the place of registration in your district, and not on Book 59 kept at any other place where the owner may be registered.

"However, in order that the business of dealers in leaf tobacco may not be unnecessarily disturbed, the foregoing rule will not be enforced until on and after July 1, 1907.

"Section 3369, Revised Statutes, requires dealers in leaf tobacco to enter in the prescribed book the number of hogsheads, cases and pounds of leaf tobacco purchased or received; by whom on assignment, consignment, or otherwise, and of whom purchased and received. From this it will be observed that the law requires the entries of the names of persons from whom leaf tobacco is purchased by them, farmers, or producers, or others. This being a provision of law, no action on the part of this office, by regulations or otherwise, looking to its modification is authorized.

"Any dealer in leaf tobacco who fails to enter in his government book the name and residence of persons from whom leaf tobacco is purchased does so in violation of the statute, and renders himself liable to the penalties fixed by law in such cases."

2,257 VOTERS AT POLLING PLACES ON PRIMARY DAY

Turn-Out Yesterday Was Unprecedented—Official Count Shows
S. B. Hedges Is Democratic Nominee by 6 Votes.

According to the official count of the ballots, which was commenced at 2:30 this afternoon, 2,257 persons voted at the various polling places yesterday. It is a safe guess that as many as fifty actually threw their ballots away by directing the clerk to cast the good ballot in the discard box, and vice versa. Thirteen blank democratic ballots bearing no lead pencil marks, whatever were fished out of the third ward ballot box. The total vote cast was distributed as follows:

First Ward	414
Second Ward	398
Third Ward	664
Fourth Ward	429
Fifth Ward	352
Total	2,257

On the official count it was found that Stewart Hedges had received the democratic nomination for mayor by a majority of 6 votes over J. F. Hutchinson, his nearest competitor. The vote was as follows: Hedges, 46; Hutchinson, 40; Dennis Hayes, 34. In case Mr. Hedges declines this nomination, as he surely will, there will be no nominee against him unless the city committee sees fit to fill the vacancy. The second best man on a ticket has no claims, according to the statement of officials at the city hall.

Louis Skavlem has received the democratic nomination for city clerk by 5 votes.

THAW CASE HALTS WHILE JEROME AGAIN TRIES FOR COMMISSION ON LUNACY

Court Opened With Wrangle Between District Attorney And Delmas, Resulting In Adjournment Till Friday.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, March 20.—When the Thaw trial opened today, District Attorney Delmas withdrew the letter written by Harry Thaw to Banker Lyon of Pittsburgh, which he offered as testimony yesterday. He then called Dr. Allan McLane Hamilton to the stand. Jerome objected to Hamilton testifying and when Delmas accused Jerome of trying to shut out the truth the latter withdrew his objection, saying he was ready to open the entire Thaw case, so all truth might go in. Jerome wanted Delmas to stipulate that the cross-examination of Hamilton should not be limited to rebuttal testimony, but Delmas refused. Jerome renewed his objection and Justice Fitzgerald sustained it.

The counsel for the defense then held a consultation, as the result of which Delmas announced that he was ready to accept Jerome's offer to tell all he knew about the case of Thaw. Justice Fitzgerald ordered the jury to withdraw while the counsel continued to discuss the stipulation under which Hamilton might possibly testify. In addressing the court, District Attorney Jerome declared if he could legally present to the court all the facts of which he was possessed it would be shocked and horrified. He said he would lay before Judge Fitzgerald all the information he had and which he believed would result in a halt in the trial. Jerome told the justice his own experts had informed him that Thaw is a paranoiac. Jerome said the state's experts, while saying that Thaw knew the nature of his act, thought he was unable to advise his counsel as to the conduct of the case. When the prisoner was in that condition in court he should not proceed further. Mr. Delmas asked if Jerome intended his application to be for a commission in lunacy. "I so understand it," said Justice Fitzgerald. Jerome said:

"I have made an application and I say to the court, I can prove the defendant is incapable of directing his defense. I leave the matter with the conscience of the court."

In reply to a question from Attorney Gleason, Dr. Hamilton said he believed Thaw was incapable of instructing his counsel.

The case was then adjourned until Friday morning. Justice Fitzgerald will hold court tomorrow afternoon to hear the testimony regarding the application for a commission to examine Thaw as to sanity.

Justice Fitzgerald said that the defense need not be afraid of any inquisitorial proceedings; he would not fairly and impartially in determining whether or not in his judgment a commission in lunacy is demanded. Jerome was manifestly pleased with the new turn of affairs. Thaw's counsel also professed to be pleased, declaring Jerome's move was an acknowledgment that he was defeated.

BROWN CASE JURY VERDICT TO STAND

Judge Grimm Today Denied The Motion

City In Damage Action.

In circuit court today the motion to set aside the verdict of the jury in the action of John Brown vs. the City of Janesville was argued by City Attorney H. L. Maxfield and City Fred Burpee. Judge Grimm denied the motion. It is not likely that the case will be taken up to the supreme court and the settlement will doubtless be made on the basis stipulated.

PRIMARY DAY IS WELL OBSERVED

HEDDLES HAS EIGHT HUNDRED AND THIRTY-FOUR MAJORITY.

VOTE WAS UNUSUALLY LARGE

Badger Has Fifty Majority—Alderman
Contests Interesting—O'Hara
Defeats Connell—Brown Won
in Third and Dulin in Fifth.

Stewart B. Heddles was tendered the republican nomination for mayor by a majority of 834 votes over his opponent, W. W. Watt, at the primaries held yesterday. Mr. Heddles' total vote was 1276, and Mr. Watt's 442.
City Clerk Badger won the republican nomination for city clerk over his opponent, Louis Skavlem, by a majority of fifty votes, the returns from the Fourth ward deciding what was a close and interesting contest. Alderman Dulin won a stubborn fight for his seat in the fifth from W. A. Murray, the democratic ticket. John O'Hara defeated Alderman Edward Connell for re-nomination in the second on the democratic ticket and Harvey Brown won the republican nomination in the third ward by a majority over Edward Amerphol and William
M. Plennig.

Hard Campaign.
The campaign for mayor has been most spectacular. Mr. Watt made a personal canvass of a majority of the voters in the city and his methods started the old time campaigners and were the direct cause of the large vote which turned out yesterday. One noticeable feature of the entire campaign was the clean manner in which it was conducted. Bitterness and personal feeling was not allowed to enter into the fight and both Mr. Watt and Mr.
Heddles are to be congratulated upon the manner in which they conducted their respective canvasses.

The Mayorship.
The following is a table of the vote for Watt and Heddles by wards.

For Mayor—Republican.

Heddles. Watt.

1st Ward 341 56

2nd Ward 184 75

3rd Ward 415 206

4th Ward 251 81

5th Ward 85 18

1276 442

Heddles' majority—834.

Among the Democrats.

The democrats despite the fact that they had no candidates in the field for mayor found several names written in on their ballots when counted last evening. Mr. Heddles received the largest number, 46, and Mr. Watt was also remembered with 13. J. F. Hutchinson had a total of 39 and Dennis Hayes 34, these two being the highest democratic figures. A table is given below to show this vote by wards between Hutchinson and Hayes.

For Mayor—Democratic.

Hutchinson. Hayes.

1st Ward 39 34

2nd Ward 15 8

3rd Ward 14 9

4th Ward 14 9

Frank George received 2 votes; I.
F. Connors, 2; George McKoy, 7;
Stewart B. Heddles (republican), 46;
W. W. Watt (republican), 13.

The City Clerkship.

In the race for city clerk the contest was most spirited. Until the vote from the Fourth ward was heard officially it was not known who had been nominated. Mr. Badger had a narrow squeeze but won out by a vote of 829 to Skavlem's 779, his majority being an even fifty. With the Fourth ward yet to hear from he had fifty-two majority and the wait until the vote was counted resulted in cutting off but two votes. Badger carried the first, third, and fifth wards and Skavlem the second and fourth. The following is the vote by wards for the two candidates.

For City Clerk—Republican.

Badger. Skavlem.

1st Ward 223 152

2nd Ward 64 139

3rd Ward 322 423

4th Ward 151 173

5th Ward 59 34

829 779

Badger's majority—50.

For Democratic Clerk.

With no candidate on their ticket
the democrats throughout the city wrote in the names of Frank L. Smith, Skavlem, Badger, and others. Of these Frank L. Smith received twenty-one votes, which was a majority of the democratic candidates but was tied by Mr. Skavlem. The following is the vote by wards on this question.

For City Clerk—Democratic.

Skavlem.

Sealer of Weights, etc.

On the republican ticket J. W.
Richardson, democrat, received 33 votes, the largest number cast for any candidate. However, in case he elects to run on the democratic ticket under the auspices of which he made his race, S. B. Echlin, who was next in line with 22 votes, will probably decline to run and the choice will then fall upon George Davey who received 7 votes. In case Mr. Davey also declines, Martin Dunn (democrat) who received 1 vote, will be the last hope of the republicans.

On the democratic ticket J. W. Richardson received 180 votes, contributed by the wards in the following order:
1—60—2—39—77. If any other candidates received votes for the office on this ticket, they were not recorded.

School Commissioner at Large.

On the republican ticket S. B.
Buckmaster was nominated for school commissioner, receiving 977 votes contributed by the wards in the following order: 237—186—442—2—60.
He also received 2 democratic votes in the Fourth ward.

The democrats had no regular nominee on the ticket, but names were written in. In some of the wards no attention was paid to these scattering votes and this was a serious blunder on the part of the election officials.
Every vote should have been counted.

Two votes for George Sutherland were recorded in the third ward and he is the nominee of the party, unless the canvassing board chooses to go behind the returns and examine the ballots. J. J. Cunningham was next in line, receiving one vote in the Fourth ward.

In the Wards.

In the first ward there were no democratic votes for alderman and on the republican ticket James W. Clark received 213, W. H. Ashcraft 1, and S. B.
Echlin 1. George Woodruff for supervisor received 307, and James Shearer for school commissioner 306.

In the second ward the real contest was on the democratic ticket for alderman, John D. O'Hara defeating the present alderman, Edward Connell, by five votes for re-nomination. The vote was: O'Hara 62, Connell 58. On the republican ticket Frank H. Snyder received 181 votes, Edward Connell 7, and O'Hara 2. It was one of the strange features of the vote that had the seven Connell votes on the republican ticket been cast on the democratic ticket and the two O'Hara votes in the same column the two men would have been tied for the nomination. Halvor L.
Skavlem for supervisor had no opposition and received 173 votes.

Before The Footlights.

McIntyre and Heath, the greatest and most humorous impersonators of negro character on the stage, will be the attraction, at the Myers theatre Friday March 22, in a new musical comedy called "The Ham Tree," described on the program as "Kluge & Erlanger's Laugh Trust." These clever comedians, with their company of 100 entertainers, made their debut in "The Ham Tree" at the New York theatre in August, 1905, where they ran for several weeks to the largest attendance in the history of this theatre. After this engagement they played long runs in Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Boston, repeating their New York success. Then followed a tour of other cities, where their performance gave immense satisfaction. They opened the present season at the New York theatre July 30th, and from the opening night till the close, the house was packed.

The book of "The Ham Tree" is by George V. Hobart, the author of the famous "John Henry" stories. The lyrics are by William Jerome and the music by Jean Schwartz. The company numbers 100 people. The principals of McIntyre and Heath's support are W. C. Fields, the tramp juggle attendant, Alexander Hamilton, the "machin' comejean," who is lured from his job to throw himself into the arms of fame as a footlight favorite. Mr. Heath's character, that of Henry Jones, a Georgia minstrel who lures Alexander into the limelight.

The announcement that "The Clansman" will be presented at Myers theatre soon will doubtless be a pleasing one to the theatregoers of this city. Everybody remembers what a furore was caused by this remarkable play, dealing with the race question, when it was presented throughout the country last season. It was the talk of the town for many months after the curtain had fallen for the last time, upon the closing night of the engagement in every city. In New York city alone there were five distinct and successful engagements played, an unusually long and profitable engagement in Philadelphia followed, and then after a phenomenal engagement in Pittsburgh of two weeks, the company went to Chicago for an all summer run. The success achieved in that city eclipsed anything that had gone before. The gler, Frederick V. Bowers, the ballerina, singer and juvenile actor, be the best of its character that had been produced there for many years. The best evidence of its popularity, however, was the long list of ticket buyers which, reaching as it did for a space of many blocks, was so unusual that every newspaper in Chicago commented upon the fact.

The original company and production will be seen here this year, and a new feature will be introduced, i. e., a troop of cavalry horses, used with thrilling effect in one of the most stirring climaxes of the play.

The box office has already been flooded with applications for seats and those desirous of seeing the play should secure their locations early.

WISCONSIN WEATHER FORECAST

Fair tonight, probably followed by showers Thursday afternoon or night; rising temperature.

HEDDLIES NOMINATED

Stewart B. Heddlies was yesterday chosen by an overwhelming majority of the voters of the city as the republican nominee for Mayor on the republican ticket. While there was no democratic nomination made previous to the primary day, the present Mayor J. F. Hutchinson received a plurality of the votes written in. It is not probable that Mr. Hutchinson will be a candidate. He has assured his friends and others that he did not desire the nomination and would not run if nominated. In view of these statements it is safe to say that yesterday's nomination of Mr. Heddlies is a practical election. In selecting Mr. Heddlies as their future civic head the citizens of Janesville have honored a man who has long been a resident of the city, has ably served as alderman and is well fitted and equipped for the office. His clear-cut victory Tuesday gives him the assurance of the backing and best wishes of a large majority of the voters of the city. Their endorsement will go far towards influencing his actions when elected Mayor. Mr. Heddlies has made no alliances, made no pledges, and will administer the city affairs to the best of his ability free from any entanglements that might hamper him.

WHAT WAS PROMISED

The republican party promised in 1896 to restore the reciprocity policy. Philadelphia Record.
But the promise was not of reciprocity in competing products. It was distinctly specified that articles received from other countries under reciprocity arrangements should be "articles which we do not ourselves produce." The republican party has never promised reciprocity on any other basis. It never will, never can promise reciprocity in competing products until it shall first decide to abandon the policy of protection.

LA FOLLETTE GIVES UP

Senator La Follette has been trying to have Isaac Stephenson elected United States senator. He has tried hard to convince his erstwhile followers that he should be allowed to pay his political debts and make good his promises of support to the Marinette man, but evidently in vain. The only question that now arises, was he sincere in his work? Did he really try to secure the plum for his financial backer? These questions will be asked, but if Stephenson is content then the rest should be silent.

Now that the railroads are beginning to realize that the government is in earnest and different states have passed laws regulating the procedure of the corporations in their limits the cry of a panic is being heard. This is all talk, although such a thing is possible, but the old days when Wall street could command the Sun, to stand still, have passed.

Janesville is ready for the boom that is headed this way. With the possibility of the interurban being built this summer, a new railroad coming to town and the North-Western building a half-million-dollar sorting yards, Janesville ought to sit up and take notice a little.

New sidewalks are promised in several bad places in the city this spring. The Gazette has been assured that the walk on South Main street referred to Monday evening is to be laid in concrete as soon as the weather is settled enough to permit work.

The western portion of the state is settling down to a good steady business in the mining districts. The fly-by-night companies that existed two years ago have disappeared and good, steady mining business will ensue.

The present prospects are that the next council will be composed of an able and representative body of men. The turn-out yesterday for the primary vote was most flattering to the candidates.

Street Commissioner James Sennott is hard at work getting the city ready for its spring cleaning. With the equipment and force he has to work he is doing excellent work.

Now about Harrison for United States Senator? He has been seriously mentioned by many, but how seriously is the question?

If the farmers would appreciate the good roads movement in its true worth Janesville would be benefited by the influx of trade.

Now comes one bold Congressman who says that Roosevelt may run for the presidency when the time comes.

It is not ground-hog was all right, as turns out.

The new council will select a street commissioner and a health officer. Aspirants for both places have already appeared.

Now that the primary is out of the way, the city can settle down to a quiet general daily routine.

Madison has not yet gotten over the experience of trying to elect Senators in past years.

Robins have appeared and the call of the bluejays are heard. Certainly spring is coming.

PRESS COMMENT.

They're Promised Presently.
Menasha Record: A panic in Wall street and no failures looks queer to the outsiders.

Here's a Fly in the Ointment.
Sheboygan Journal: If you haven't a family to use one of the new mileage books, it might be a good plan to get one as speedily as possible.

Our Good Citizens, the Irish.
Milwaukee Sentinel: It may be a bit selfish, but on each St. Patrick's day many of us must feel that Ireland's melancholy loss of population has been America's gain.

It Fizzled at Sheboygan.
Manitowish News: Sheboygan had five years of socialism. Now it has been discarded as not being practical. They purchased their old water works plant and now can not float the bonds to pay for it.

Spongy Nature of Stocks.
Milwaukee News: However, considering their spongy nature, the stocks that have had the water squeezed out of them may be expected to begin absorbing moisture when the conditions are propitious.

Not at All Accidental.
Chicago News: Of course Harrison made a lot of money out of the slump in stocks. That is why stocks slumped. Anybody who thinks the prices slipped on a banana peel have a lot much to learn about the game.

The Old Books the Best.
St. Louis Globe-Democrat: One English firm last year sold 400,000 of Dickens' novels. It is no easy matter to let go of Dickens, Quilp and Sally Gamp, to say nothing of the fine collection of notable folks of another stamp.

Broad and True.
Milwaukee Sentinel: That was a beautiful sentiment in Mr. Clarke's St. Patrick day address, on the Catholics and Protestants who have died for Irish liberty. "Their souls are not far apart in heaven yonder, no matter at what altar they worshipped on earth."

Big Splash in Opera.
Buffalo News: When the composer Puccini puts Niagara into a grand opera there ought to be both striking and brilliant effects of an electrically shocking character. If he lacks anything of brilliancy he might insert transcripts of debates in the board of aldermen on the subject.

Alonso Boosted Home Market.
Detroit News: After all, kings are of some use. Alonso of Spain has materially increased the British demand for sherry, the principal wine produced in his country, he insisting on having it at every dinner he took in England, thereby setting a style which has been considerably followed.

Burton Should Remain Very Still.
Fond du Lac Commonwealth: Former Senator Burton, who will be released from federal prison next Wednesday, after having completed his sentence, promises to celebrate his restoration to freedom by flaying his enemies. The former senator may imagine that revenge, thus secured, will prove a sweet morsel, but for all that it is a poor way to start life anew.

Fie! Fie! Beloit.
Beloit Free Press: Mob law in Beloit cannot bring credit to the city. Such demonstrations against men are disgraceful, but against women—no matter what kind—deserve the severest censure. The sight of four hundred men following six women through the streets of the city Saturday night was one that will not soon be forgotten by those who witnessed it.

Has Hard Course to Steer.
Exchange: Mr. Stephenson could probably strengthen his candidacy in certain directions if he would agree to abide by such arrangements as Senator La Follette might make, but gains would of course be offset by losses of support in other quarters. In fact Uncle Ike seems to be against a proposition that is quite as aggravating as the one which confronts the senator himself.

Two Views.
Oshkosh Northwestern: "How would any loyal Wisconsin citizen like to have Isaac Stephenson introduced in the United States senate as the successor of John C. Spooner?" says the La Crosse Leader-Press. But is there any reason, please, why any loyal republican of this state would like to see Mr. Stephenson in the senate? Is he not a good republican and a fine example of sterling citizenship and self-made man, whose success has been achieved by the hard knocks of practical experience?

The Mule of Discord.
Chicago Chronicle: There is a story, two versions of which have been printed, to the effect that the war between Honduras and Nicaragua grew out of the stealing of a mule. According to one story the mule theft was intended as a joke. The war, in which some hundreds of generals and one or two privates have been killed, is not considered a joke. Only the one pretty serious if it is apprehended. All the generals of all the Central American states become involved. Meantime we may discard the apple and have henceforth only the mule of discord.

Suffers for Its Sudden-Rich.
Superior Telegram: Pittsburg is not afflicted with gangrene or dry rot, yet the city has obtained an unenviable publicity through the follies of some of its sudden-rich people. These scandals have caused the chamber of commerce to hold a public banquet of such discriminative choice as to its guests that the world may look on and admire the admirable exhibit of the finer type of man. Only the one thinking would ever regard Pittsburg as a city on the slope of perdition. It is not the fault of the city, the state or the money that has come to so many residents of the prosperous coal and iron and steel industries that scandals are so numerous. It is the inherent weakness of the human species.

Turning Garbage into Cash.
New York Tribune: That the method of garbage disposal is about to be revolutionized by the manufacture of denatured alcohol is the statement made to the common council of Milwaukee by Dr. W. A. Boyd of Rockford, Ill. Milwaukee now pays $39 a ton for burning its garbage at a municipal plant and Dr. Boyd has offered to do the work at 70 cents a ton, and at the end of ten years give the city his plant. Milwaukee gets no return in the way of by-products from burning its garbage. Dr. Boyd says he will get grease, fertilizer and alcohol from the waste. Alcohol would be the most important of the by-products.

Wisconsin's Dramatic Uplift.
Chicago Under Ocean: Elevators of the stage everywhere, and their name is legion, will be pleased and proud to hear that Assemblyman J. F. Hughes of Riceville, Wis., has saved the dramatic uplift in his state from a crashing fall.

If we have not heard much of the campaign which Assemblyman Hughes has been carrying on for a better, purer, nobler histrionic art in Milwaukee, Madison, Oconomowoc, La Crosse, Fond du Lac, and at other points in the neighboring state, it is because certain political events up that way have crowded the news of it off the wires. It has been making progress, however, just the same. Assemblyman Hughes declares he is sincere in his expressed belief that, when the ballet is compelled to wear skirts according to the measurement laid down in his bill, there will be a revival of public taste for the innocent, homestead and tank drama, and consequently an uplifting of the stage which will gradually affect places like Pittsburg, Kansas City, and Santa Fe, where dramatic morals have been anything but praiseworthy of late.

His bill may not pass. The bald-headed element at the great centers of thought and population of Wisconsin is very strong, and it is alleged, not altogether scrupulous when it comes to a matter of this kind. But he has, at least, saved his measures from a sudden and an ignominious death, and kept the issue so well in the front that those who wear tight-fitting professionally will be a trifle more careful than they have been in the recent past, especially in Madison.

A Croaker's Comment.
There's a bit of hard luck," ejaculated the frog when the horseshoe fell on it.

TIMELY WARNING AGAINST "MAIL ORDER"

CREAM SEPARATORS

The "Farm Implement News" of Chicago quotes the following good advice to dairy farmers from a lecture by Prof. C. E. Lee of the University of Illinois State Experiment Station:
"I am not at liberty to give my preference, for I am not selling separators— if I were to name a separator manufacturer, either to you here in public or in private, I would lose my position—but there is one thing I desire to warn you farmers against—and that is buying hand separators from the 'mail order' houses. Don't do it—you will regret it. The machines do not give results and they do not last. Our department receives hundreds of inquiries as to 'what's the matter with my separator?' It doesn't do this, or it doesn't do that, and I tell you, gentlemen, that in every instance when we ask them to name their separator it is a 'mail order' house machine and almost worthless when it was new."

Don't waste your money in a trashy separator, made "cheap" to sell "cheap," that is going to WASTE instead OF SAVE for you EVERY TIME you put milk through it, and which would be VERY DEAR EVEN AS A GIFT. DE LAVAL Cream Separators are NOT that kind. A DE LAVAL catalogue is to be had for the asking.

"Same Old Story"

A patient recently consulted Dr. Richards about needed family work. Had been paying $10 each for gold crowns and was tired of the burden. Said had been doing so for social acquaintanceship and friendship sake, but couldn't see the use any more of paying twice as much for work as was necessary.

This is the way people look at it. When they think.

And the time most people think is when the bill is presented for payment.

You may have the very best dental work obtainable in the city for $5 a tooth and you may pay $10 for the very same if you go blindly along. It's all in the way you go.

MIDNIGHT FIRE ON TERRACE ST.

NEARLY COST GEO. HOWLAND AND SONS THEIR LIVES.

ESTIMATED DAMAGE $1,800

Whole Lower Floor a Mass of Flames When Sleepers Awoke—Mrs. Geo. Webster Sent in Alarm.

George Howland, conductor for the St. Paul railroad, and his sons—Leo, a high school student, and Glen—were sleeping in their room at the Howland family residence, 123 Terrace street, when they were awakened by the sound of cracking flames. A glance out the window caused them to hasten to the telephone and call the fire station. Scarcely had this errand been accomplished when Mr. Howland and his sons, awakened to their peril. Without waiting to dress and groped their way down the stairway through a zone of suffocating smoke and intense heat. Almost overcome, they staggered to the refuge promptly offered by neighbors.

Lower Floor Gutted
A few moments later the fire department was pouring streams of water into the fiery furnace. When the blaze was sufficiently under control the firemen made their way to the upper floor and made use of the chemical extinguishers where necessary. The pet dog which had been left behind in an upper room had been killed by the heat and stifling smoke. The chandelier globes in the dining-room and parlor had been melted. Furniture and furnishings were charred and utterly ruined. An estimate of the loss places it at $1,800.

Origin is a Mystery
On the theory that the blaze had been started by the stove, a careful examination of the premises was made. Nothing could be found which substantiated this conjecture. The stove was still burning and all of its parts appeared to be intact. One of the boys said that he looked at the coal fire and closed the stove tightly at 10:30. At that time there was nothing whatever to indicate that all was not well. Mr. Howland and his sons have not entirely recovered from their terrible experience today, but will suffer no permanent ill effects.

TOOTH PULLED WITH BLACKSMITH'S TOOL

Caused Abscess to Form in Cheek and Ole Bronson Had to Be Taken to the County House.

Ole Bronson, a character about the city for many years, was taken to the county house today in order that proper medical treatment and care may be given him. Bronson, who has been living in a shed in the rear of Leary's blacksmith shop on Dodge street, has suffered during the past few days with an ulcerated tooth. He sought the assistance of a neighbor and by the use of a pair of blacksmith's nippers an effort to extract the tooth was made. The tooth was broken and an abscess formed on the cheek. At the order of Chief of Police Appleby, Dr. Charles Sutherland, the city physician, was called and after the sore had been treated the patient was taken to the poor farm by Superintendent Kenyon. Bronson has been a conspicuous figure about the streets by reason of his two wooden legs. With these he has been able to walk almost as easily as one not crippled. Through the manufacture of such legs Bronson has formerly succeeded in eking out an existence.

VETERAN OF 13TH REGIMENT IS DEAD

Sylvanus R. Wallihan Passed Away at Orange, Calif., Monday—Burial at Footville.

Sylvanus R. Wallihan, for many years a resident of Rock county, until his removal to Longmont, Colorado in 1897, passed away on the 13th inst. at the home of his eldest son, D. P. Wallihan, in Orange, California, where he had gone in the hope of benefiting his declining health. Mr. Wallihan was a Civil war veteran, having enlisted at Janesville in the 13th Wis. Infantry at the age of 18. Fitness and the hardships of army life left their effects, and a pulmonary weakness then contracted resulted in the final decline. The funeral will be held at Footville, the former home, announcement to be made later.

Good Comparison.

William Dean Howells at a Lenten dinner in New York said: "I heard of a striking simile the other day. A lady was doing some Lenten marketing—buying eggs, fish, fruit. Panning before a fruit stand, she examined a heap of pears. 'Are these juicy?' she asked. 'Juicy,' said the dealer warmly. 'Why, ma'am, they're as juicy as my old pipe.'

PRESIDENT CONFERS WITH C. S. MELLEN

HAS HALF-HOUR TALK WITH ONE RAILWAY HEAD.

OTHERS NOT HEARD FROM

Mr. Roosevelt is Making a Very Careful Study of the Railroad Situation, But Does Not Announce His Policy.

Washington, March 20.—The interview between President Roosevelt and Charles S. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad, recently arranged for the purpose of discussing the railroad situation, took place at the White House Tuesday. It lasted not more than 35 minutes.

No statement of the particular questions discussed was made at the White House, and Mr. Mellen declined to talk. To all questions bearing on the conference he referred his inquiries to Secretary Loeb, adding that anything he might say might be construed as having a bearing on the present situation.

Mr. Mellen was asked whether he would again visit the White House for a conference with the president, but he replied that he did not expect to unless he was sent for. Almost in the same breath, however, he said that perhaps he might come after all, even if not sent for, as he is in the habit of making frequent trips to the capital.

Result of Morgan's Plan.

Mr. Mellen's visit is the outcome of a call made to the White House last week by J. Pierpont Morgan, the New York financier, who came to Washington at the request of many business men to discuss the present business situation, particularly as affecting the railroads. At the time Mr. Morgan suggested to the president that it would be greatly in the public interest if he would see certain railroad presidents and confer with them "as to what steps might be taken to allay public anxiety, to the relations between the railroads and government."

The visit of Mr. Mellen followed the conference to had several days ago with Presidents McCrea, Newman and Hughitt, of the Pennsylvania, New York Central and Chicago & North-western railroads respectively. These four were the names suggested to Mr. Roosevelt by Mr. Morgan. It is not known at the White House whether Messrs. McCrea, Newman and Hughitt will visit Mr. Roosevelt. The president will see them if they come. So far they have not been heard from.

President Posting Himself.

Following the departure of Mr. Mellen, Interstate Commissioner Frank Lane came to the White House and had a talk with the president about railroad matters. Attorney General Bonaparte also conferred with the president.

During the past three weeks President Roosevelt has had visits from half a dozen well-known financiers and railroad men, with all of whom he has discussed various phases of the railroad situation. These include J. Pierpont Morgan, James Speyer of New York, President Stickney of the Chicago Great Western railroad, B. F. Yoakum, the chairman of the board of directors of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific, E. H. Harriman of the Union Pacific, and Charles S. Mellen of the New York, New Haven & Hartford railroad.

Learning All He Can.

The president says frankly that he is learning all he can regarding the railroad situation and that he intends to continue to consult with railroad people and others on the subject. It is understood he is making inquiries on some points pertaining to federal supervision and control of the railroads, to the question of an appraisal of the physical valuation of such properties and to the matter of the issue of various forms of indebtedness. As to the last named, he regards it as perfectly proper and he sees no objection to a proper issue of obligations for equipment, terminals and betterments, but thinks there should be a careful scrutiny to see that stocks or bonds are issued for such purposes.

Not Telling His Policy.

The president has made it plain to his callers that he cannot be expected to outline his policy in informal talks with them and that inferences as to his attitude must not be drawn from what he says in these casual talks.

When he has made up his mind and is ready to tell the public just what his attitude is on particular questions, and specifically on the railroad issue, he will do so in a speech or in a message to congress. Some expressions from him are expected on the railroad question during the next few months. The president is scheduled to make four speeches between now and the middle of June, and it is expected that he will have something to say on the railroad question in one of these speeches.

ROUMANIAN JEWS FLEEING

ATTACKED BY THE PEASANTS THOUSANDS CROSS BORDER.

Town of Botosahni Nearly Destroyed—Prefect of Vasescu's Insolent Reply to Premier.

Vienna, March 20.—According to a telegram received here from Czernowitz, an Austrian town close to the boundary of Moldavia, Roumania, advices have been received there from the Austrian frontier police stationed at Itzkan and Suozawa that the anti-Jewish outbreak in Roumania is assuming serious proportions.

Peasants have attacked and plundered Jews at Burdusheni, who are fleeing over the frontier to Itzkan. About 2,000 fugitives, mostly women and children, already have crossed the frontier. Other reports declare that further serious disturbances have occurred at Botosahni, where the peasants have set fire to the houses of Jews, and as a result almost the entire town is in flames. The Hebrew alliance of Vienna is preparing to take care of the Roumanian fugitives. Telegrams received here from Bucharest declare that the prime minister, George Cantacuzene, demanded of the prefect of Vasescu, in the Botosahni district, why he did not maintain order in Vasescu. The prefect replied, according to these reports, that no Roumanians were in danger, while as for the Jews, he would not give one Christian soul for a million Jews. When the prefect was informed that he was unfit for his post, he answered that he would not resign, but that he was ready to be dismissed.

YOUNG MARVIN NOT IN ERIE.

Boy from Fredonia, N. Y. Mistaken for Kidnaped Lad.

Erie, Pa., March 20.—At 1:30 o'clock Wednesday morning it was learned that the kidnaped son of Dr. Horace N. Marvin of Kitts Hammock, Del., was not in this city or vicinity. It was stated that all the clues had been thoroughly investigated without success.

The most promising clue proved to be the presence in this city of a woman from Fredonia, N. Y., accompanied by a young son who closely resembles the description of young Marvin. This clue was discovered by Attorney A. P. Howard.

Shortly after midnight Tuesday night Mayor Liebel and other officials and detectives accompanied by Attorney Howard, went to the home of Mrs. Belle Strick, on Myrtle street, at which place Attorney Howard said the Marvin lad was located. The lad was readily produced and the resemblance to the description of young Marvin was instantly apparent. Chief of Police Wagner at once placed every one in the house under arrest, and it was not until after Dr. Bell, an Erie physician, stated positively that he had treated the boy in Erie before Horace Marvin was kidnaped that the officials realized a mistake had been made. It then developed that the boy was the one from Fredonia, N. Y.

The officials dispersed and the search for Horace Marvin in Erie ceased.

RHEUMATISM BREAKS DOWN THE STRONGEST CONSTITUTION

Rheumatism is caused by a sour, acid condition of the blood, brought on by chronic constipation, weak kidneys, poor digestion and a general sluggish condition of the system. Because of these irregularities the refuse and waste matters of the body are not promptly expelled, but are left to sour and ferment, producing irritating acids which are taken up by the blood and distributed to all parts of the system. This acid matter weakens and disorients the blood so that instead of supplying the body with nourishing, healthful properties it deposits the poison with which it is loaded into the muscles, nerves, bones and joints, and Rheumatism gets complete control of the system. Some suffer almost constantly with the disease, while others have intervals of freedom, during which they live in constant dread of the next attack, when an exposure to cold or dampness or some other irregularity will cause the symptoms to return. If the cause is not removed Rheumatism will progress and reach a point where it becomes incurable, and the strongest constitution will break down. S. S. S. has been curing Rheumatism for more than forty years. It attacks the disease at its head by going down into the blood and removing every particle of the acid matter and building up the weak, sour blood to a state of purity and richness. S. S. S. is the King of blood purifiers, just what is needed for the cure of Rheumatism. Book on Rheumatism and any medical advice sent free.

Both Phones On the Bridge

Origin of "February."

February derived its name from the word "februare," to "expiate" for "purity," in consequence of the Roman festival of expiation and purification, celebrated on the 15th of the month. The ancient Saxons called it sprinthale, from the sprouting of the cabbage at this season. Afterwards it was known as Sol-mout (sun month), the sun having now returned from the low latitudes to its higher course.

Cork Legs.

From the name universally given artificial limbs one might suppose that they were made of cork, but that is not the case. They are so called from the fact that when artificial limbs were first produced the majority of factories were located in Cork street, London, and it became the custom to speak of them as cork legs. Since then manufacturing have been established in many countries, but the name of cork still clings to their warcs.

THE PLUM TREE

BY DAVID GRAHAM PHILLIPS

AUTHOR OF THE COST OF THE DELUGE, ETC.

COPYRIGHTED 1905 BY BOARDS-MERRILL COMPANY.

"A starved man has to practice eating a long, long time before he can equal the performances of a trained glutton," I suggested.

His facial response to my good-humored railway was feeble indeed. And it soon died in a look of depression that made him seem even older and more decrepit than was his wont. "The same story, wherever I go," said he sadly. "The business interests refuse to take their peril. And when I, in my zeal, persist, they—several of them, Saylor, have grinned at me and reminded me that the legislature to be elected next fall will choose my successor! As if my own selfish interests were all I have in mind! I am old and feeble, on the verge of the grave. Do you think, Mr. Saylor, that I would continue in public life if it were not for what I conceive to be my duty to my party? I have toiled too long for it—"

"Your record speaks for itself, senator," I put in, politely but pointedly. "You are very discouraging, Saylor," he said forlornly. "But I refuse to be discouraged. The party needs you, and I have come to do my duty, and I won't leave without doing it."

"I have nothing to do with the company's political contributions," said I. "You will have to see Mr. Ramsay, as usual."

He waved his hand. "Let me explain, please. Roosevelt is about to resign—as you probably know, he's been chairman of the party's state committee for 17 years. I've come to ask you to take his place."

It was impossible wholly to hide my amazement, my stupefaction. Had he had the shadowy suspicion of my plans, of the true inwardness of the Croft-Dominick movement, he would as readily have offered me his own head, in fact, he was offering me his own head, for, with the money and the other resources at my command, I needed only this place of official executive of the party to make me master. And here he was, giving me the place, under the delusion that he could use me as he had been using Roosevelt.

He must have misread my expression, for he went on: "Don't refuse on impulse, Saylor. I and the others will do everything to make your duties as light as possible."

"I should not be content to be a mere figurehead, as Roosevelt has been," I warned him. "He had come, in his desperation to try to get the man who combined the advantage of being, as he supposed, Dominick's enemy, and a member of one of the state's financially influential families. He had come to cozen me into letting him use me in return for a mockery of an honor. And I was simply tumbling him, or rather, permitting him to tumble himself, into the pit he had dug for me. Still, I felt that I owed it to myself to give him a chance. If I take the place, I shall fill it to the best of my ability."

"Certainly, certainly—we want your ability," Behind his bland, cordial mask I saw the spider eyes gleaming and the spider claws twitching as he felt his net quiver under hovering wings. "We want you—we need you, Saylor. We expect you to do your best."

My best! What would my best be, have been, had I been only what he thought—dependent upon him for supplies—surrounded by his lieutenants, hearing nothing but what he chose to tell me, and able to execute only such orders as he gave or approved!

"I am sure we can count on you," he urged.

"I will try it," said I, after a further hesitation that was not altogether show.

He did not linger—he wished to give me no chance to change my mind and fly his net. I was soon alone, staring dazedly at my windfall and wondering if fortune would ever give me anything without attaching to it that which would make me doubt whether my gift had more of bitter or more of sweet in it.

Dunkirk announced the selection of a new chairman that very afternoon—as a forecast, of course, for there was the formality of my "election" by the 63 members of the state committee to be gone through. His proposition was well received. The old-line politicians remembered my father; the reformers recalled my fight against Dominick; the business men liked my connection with the Ramsay company, assuring stability and regard for "conservatism;" the "boys" were glad because I had a rich wife and a rich brother-in-law. The "boys" always cheer when a man with money develops political aspirations.

I did not see Woodruff until I went down to the capital to begin my initiation. I came upon him there, in the lobby of the Capital City hotel. As we talked for a moment like barely acquainted strangers saying nothing that might not have been repeated broadcast, his look was asking: "How did you manage to trap Dunkirk into doing it?" I never told him the secret, and so never tore out the foundation of his belief in me as a political wizard. It is by such judicious use of their few strokes of good luck that successful men get their glamour of the superhuman. In the eyes of the average man, who is lazy or intermittent, the result of plain, incessant, unintermittent work is amazing enough. "All that is needed to make him cry: 'Genius!' is a little luck adroitly exploited."

I left Woodruff to join Dunkirk. "Who is that chap over there—Dr. Woodruff?" I asked him.

"Woodruff?" replied the senator. "Oh, a lobbyist. He does a good deal for Roosevelt. I believe. An honest fellow—for that kind—they tell me. It's always well to be civil to them."

Dunkirk's "initiation" of me into the duties of my office wiped away my last lingering sense of doubt, or, at least, doubtful, dealing. He told me nothing that was not calculated to mislead me. And he was so glib and so frank and so sympathetic that, had I not known the whole machine from the inside, I should have been his dupe.

It is not pleasant to suspect that, in some particular instance, one of your fellowmen takes you for a simple-minded fool. To know you are being so regarded, not in one instance, but in general, is the highest degree of exasperation, no matter how well your vanity is under control.

"Perhaps I should not have been able to play my part and deceive my deliverer had I been steadily at headquarters. As it was, I went there little and then gave orders, apparently contenting myself with the credit for what other men were doing in my name. In fact, so obvious did I make my neglect as chairman that the party press commented on it, and covertly criticized me. Dunkirk, mildly reproached me for lack of interest. He did not know—indeed, he never knew—that his chief lieutenant, Thurston, in charge at headquarters, had gone over to the enemy and was Woodruff's right-hand man. And it is not necessary for me to say here Woodruff got the orders he transmitted to Thurston."

My excuse for keeping aloof was that I was about to be transformed into a man of family. As I was fond of children I had looked forward to this with more eagerness than I ventured to show to my wife. She might not have liked it, eager though she was also. As soon as she knew that her longings were to be satisfied she entered upon a course of preparation so elaborate that I was secretly much amused, though I thoroughly approved and encouraged her. Every moment of her days was laid out in some duty imposed upon her by the regimen she had arranged after a study of all that science says on the subject.

As perfect tranquillity was a fundamental of the regime, she permitted nothing to ruffle her. But Ed more than made up for her calm. Two weeks before the event, she forbade him to enter her presence—or any part of the grounds where I'm likely to see you," said she. "The very sight of you looking so frustrated unnerves me."

"While he and I were waiting in the sitting-room for the news, he turned his heart inside out."

"I want to tell you, Harvey," said he, "that the—boy or girl—whichever it is—is to be my heir."

"I shan't hold you to that," I replied with a laugh.

"No—I'll never parry," he went on. "There was an angel. You know the Shaker settlement?—well, out there."

I looked at him in wonder. If ever there was a man who seemed unromantic, it was he, heavy and prosaic and so shy that he was visibly agitated even in bowing to a woman acquaintance.

"I met her," he was saying, "when I was driving that way—the horse ran, I was thrown out, and her nurse me. You've seen her face—or faces like it. Most of those Madonnas over on the other side in all the galleries suggest her. Well—her parents were furious—wouldn't hear of it—you know Shakers think marriage and love and all those things are wicked. And she thought so, too. How she used to suffer! It wore her to a shadow. She wouldn't marry me—wouldn't let me so much as touch her hand. But we used to meet—and then she caught a cold—waiting hours for me; one winter night, when there'd been a misunderstanding about the place—I was in one place, she in another. And the cold—you see, she couldn't fight against it. And—there won't be another, Harvey. All women are sacred to me for her sake, but I couldn't any more marry than I could—could stop feeling her sitting beside me, just a little way off, wrapped in her drab shawl, with her face—like a glimpse through the gates of Heaven."

Within me up-started the memories that I kept battered down.

"Your children are mine, too, Harvey," he ended.

I took from Carlotta's work-basket an unfinished bit of baby clothing. I went to him and held it up and pointed to the monogram she had embroidered on it.

"E. R. S.," he read aloud. Then he looked at me with a queer expression beginning to form in his eyes.

"Edward Ramsay Saylor, it's a boy," said I. "Edwina Ramsay Saylor, it's a girl."

He snatched the bit of linen from me and buried his face in it.

and I shouldn't have faked to handicap a child with it. Carlotta and Ed were delighted, but I felt a momentary keen disappointment. I had wanted a girl. Girls never leave their parents completely, as boys do. Also I should rather have looked forward to my child's having a sheltered life, one in which the fine and beautiful ideals do not have to be molded into the gross, ugly forms of the practical. I may say, in passing, that I deplore the entrance of women into the world of struggle. Women are the natural and only custodians of the ideals. We men are compelled to wander, often to wander far, from the ideal. Unless our women remain aloof from action, how are the ideals to be preserved? Man for action; woman to purify man, when he returns stained with the blood and sin of battle.

But—with the birth of the first child I began to appreciate how profoundly right my mother had been about marriage and its source of happiness. There are other flowers than the rose—other flowers, and beautiful, the most beautiful for its absence.

CHAPTER IX.

To the Seats of the Mighty.

We, our party, carried the state, as usual. Our legislative majority was increased by 11, to 37 on joint ballot. It was certain that Dunkirk's successor would be of the same political faith; but would he be Dunkirk? At first that venerable custodian of the plum tree hadn't a doubt. He had come to look on it as his personal property. But, after he had talked to legislators-elect from various parts of the state, he became uneasy. He found that the party's members were dangerously evenly divided between himself and the "Dominick-Croft" faction. And soon he was at me to declare for him.

I evaded as long as I could—which did not decrease his nervousness. When he put it to me point-blank, I said: "I can't do it, senator. I will not mix in quarrels within the party." "But they are saying you are against me," he pleaded.

"And your people are saying I am for you," I retorted.

"But surely you are not against me and for Schoolcraft? What has he done for you?"

"And what have you done for me?" I replied—a mere interrogation, without any feeling in it. "Tell me. I try to pay my debts."

His eyes shifted. "Nothing, Saylor, nothing," he said. "I didn't mean to insinuate that you owed me anything. Still, I thought—you wouldn't have been state chairman, except—"

"As he halted, I said: 'Except that you needed me. And you will recall that I took it only on condition that I should be free.'

"Then you are opposed to me," he said. "Nobody can be on the fence in this fight."

"I do not think you can be elected," I replied.

As he sat silent, the puffs under his eyes swelled into bags and the pallor of his skin changed to the gray which makes the face look as if a haze or a cloud lay upon it. I pitted him so profoundly that, had I ventured to speak, I should have uttered impulsive gestures that would have cost me dear. How rarely are our impulses of generosity anything but impulses to folly, injustice and wrong!

"We shall see," was all he said, and he rose and shuffled away.

They told me he made a pitiful sight, wheedling and whining among the legislators. But he degraded himself to some purpose. He succeeded in rallying round him enough members to deadlock the party caucus for a month—members from the purely rural districts, where the sentiment of loyalty is strongest, where his piety and unselfish devotion to the party were believed in, and his significance as a "statesman." I let this deadlock continue—until I felt that the party throughout the state was heartily sick of the struggle. Then Woodruff bought, at $12,000 apiece, two Dunkirk men to vote to transfer the contest to the floor of a joint session of the two houses.

TOOK AWAY THE EVIDENCE.

Bridegroom's Proof That He Had Been a "Real Sport."

A Denver hotel man tells the following story and says it's true: A few days ago a bride and groom from the country registered at the hotel. "What are your rates for room and board for two?" asked the groom. "Six dollars," was the reply. That was satisfactory, and the two were given a room. When they decided to leave the groom asked for his bill. It was $24. He was staggered. "What!" he ejaculated. "Twenty-four dollars! That's an outrage. You said six dollars." "Six dollars a day," came from the clerk. "Six dollars a day." "Six dollars a day!" the groom almost shouted. "I thought you meant six dollars a week." The clerk simply smiled. Finally, the groom paid over the money. "Now," he said, calming down somewhat, "wait a minute. I want to go upstairs. Keep that money in your hand." The clerk didn't understand, but he decided to humor the man. The latter soon returned with a camera. Aiming it at the clerk he took a picture. "This is the highest-priced place I ever stopped at," he explained. "I just wanted a picture to show my friends that I was a real sport here in Denver." Then he and his bride gathered up their telescopes and went out.

HAD HIM DEAD TO RIGHTS.

Circumstantial Evidence Certainly Was Strong in This Case.

"Yes, they call it circumstantial evidence. But she won't all right." So said the old gentleman recently to his companion, a younger and much less experienced man. The two were discussing life in double harness. The younger one was anxious. He felt half afraid. So he consulted his friend, older and far more experienced than he in the matrimonial field. "But how did they prove it?" queried the young man. The older man had been telling him of his own peculiar experience. And he told it in a sad way. "Well," replied the experienced one, "Nell, she stuck a needle in her waist about a year before I got so strong. And that blamed needle kept working around there all the time. I got kinder strong and kept on going. I was there to see her most every night. Finally that blamed needle worked out of my arm and she had me dead to rights! It doesn't pay to get too close to a good thing sometimes."

Why He Sought the Mourners' Bench.

"Once we had a revival, and I attended it with my girl. She got quite excited, and before I knew what was happening she started for the mourners' bench. She didn't ask me if I'd go. She just got up and went all by herself. Well, she knelt down there, and I see that right next to her was kneeling a fellow she'd been going with some and who was a rival of mine. I said: 'By gosh, I can't stand that! Maybe he'll be ketchin' her. There was just a little room between her and him, and I stepped up and knelt so as to separate 'em. I cut him out that time, and he didn't marry that girl. As far as that goes, neither did I. Oh, well, you can't be young but once!'"

"KAYSER" GLOVES

Jewels of English Women.

Many English society women are the owners of jewels worth the proverbial king's ransom. Perhaps the largest collections belong to the duchess of Portland and the duchess of Marlborough, but Viscountess Iveagh is the possessor of one of the most valuable necklaces in England. Her pearls are worth over $350,000, and took Lord Iveagh a long time to collect. Lady Rothschild, the countess of Dudley, the countess of Annesley and Lady Denman all own most beautiful pearls. The duchess of Roxburgh and the Marchioness of Eglinton both have a large number of turquoises.

Plants for the Garden.

"As a bed of solid color phlox drummondii is very effective. Cannas entail considerable labor in the planting in the spring and removal to the house for protection in the autumn, but the phlox, being perfectly hardy, makes a permanent bed. Gardeners are now substituting them for the tender plants. After the tops are cut off in the fall, a two or three-inch coating of stable manure insures strong growth the following season. If one happens to see a desirable shade all that is necessary is to make cuttings three inches long, plant in the open ground in a moist situation and in three or four weeks rooted plants will be produced."

"Grandma," he said at length, "mother told me not to be a bother, and if it's going to be any trouble you can just as well make my pie regular size."—Harper's.

Do You Think For Yourself?

Or, Do You Open Your Mouth Like a Young Bird and Gulp Down
Whatever Food or Medicine May be Offered You?

If you are an intelligent, thinking woman, in need of relief from weakness, nervousness, pain and suffering, then it means much to you that there is one tried and true, honest medicine of KNOWN COMPOSITION, sold by druggists for the cure of woman's ills.

The makers of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, for the cure of weak, nervous, run-down, over-worked, debilitated, pain-racked women, knowing this medicine to be made up of ingredients, every one of which has the strongest possible indorsement of the leading and standard authorities of the several schools of medical practice, are not afraid to print, as they do, the list of ingredients, of which it is composed, in plain English, on every bottle-wrapper.

The formula of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will bear the most critical examination of medical experts, for it contains no alcohol, no injurious to delicate women even in small quantities when long continued. Neither does it contain any narcotics, or other harmful, or habit-forming drugs, and no agent entered into it that is not highly recommended by the most advanced and leading medical teachers and authorities of their several schools of practice. These authorities recommend the ingredients of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for the cure of exactly the same ailments for which this world-famed medicine is advised by its manufacturers.

No other medicine for woman's ills has such professional endorsement as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription has received. In the qualified recommendations of over 100,000 medical men of all the schools of practice, is such an endorsement not worthy of your consideration? It certainly is entitled to far more weight than any number of non-professional, or lay testimonials.

A booklet of ingredients, with numerous authoritative professional endorsements by the leading medical authorities of this country, will be mailed free to any one sending name and address with request for same. Address: Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a scientific medicine, carefully devised by an experienced and skillful physician, and adapted to woman's delicate system. It is made of native American medicinal roots and is perfectly harmless in its effects in any condition of the female system.

As a powerful invigorating tonic "Favorite Prescription" imparts strength to the whole system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. For overworked, "run-down," debilitated teachers, milliners, dressmakers, seamstresses, shop-girls, housekeepers, nursing mothers, and feeble women generally, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the greatest earthly boon, being unequalled as an appetizing cordial and restorative tonic.

As a soothing and strengthening nervine, "Favorite Prescription" is unequalled and is invaluable in allaying and subduing nervous excitability, irritability,

WHY JUDGE WAS MERCIFUL.

Knew What Prison Sentence Meant to the Criminal.

The judge and the district attorney lunched together at the end of the case. "Three months," said the district attorney, as he cut the omelette hogroise, "was a merciful sentence, sir." "Perhaps, perhaps," the judge agreed. He sipped his mineral water. "Did you ever spend three months in jail?" he asked. "Of course not!" laughed the district attorney. "Well, if you had," said the judge, "perhaps you wouldn't think so lightly of it." He knitted his brows. "The evil-tasting food, the prison smell, the prison morals—pah! I," he went on, "spent a week in jail before I entered on my judgeship. I ate the prison food. I slept in a cell. I conformed with all the prison rules. I wore the prison clothes. I did prison work. Thus I learned the value of the sentences I was to mete out later on. I got to know what a week, a month, a year, in jail meant. As a result I am more merciful than most judges. I think it would be a good thing if every judge before taking office would spend a little while in jail as I did. He then would know the value of prison sentences, a thing he doesn't know now. Now he is like a cashier who attempts to pay out money in a coinage of which he is ignorant. In Baden this thing I speak of must be done. Every judge in Baden before he takes his seat on the bench is required by law to pass two weeks like a common prisoner in jail."

WAS THERE IN PLAIN SIGHT.

Injunction Quite Clear to Unsophisticated Girl.

A Camden business man has at his home a recently arrived Irish girl for a servant, says the Philadelphia Ledger. One day last week he was called out of town on business, and a telegram came to the house for him. The girl received the telegram and took it to her mistress, who looked at it aside. A little later the servant picked the telegram up, and noticing that it was still unopened went to her mistress and said: "That telegram has not yet been opened: why do you not open it?" "Why should I open it, Molly?" replied the mistress. "It is not for me." "Well, it says on the envelope, 'Terbo opened.'" Molly brought the telegram and her mistress, looking it over, remarked: "I don't see anything about it's to be opened." For answer the servant triumphantly pointed out in one corner of the envelope the following: "Received at Branch Office, No. Broadway. Always open."

No Lack of Water.

Maj. Gillette's philippics against the water works fall at times upon deaf ears. An inspector who was visiting West Philadelphia dwellings to discover who were guilty of wasting water found in one house that a water flush was constantly flowing. "How long has that water been running?" he asked the tenant. "How long?" echoed the other in amazement. "Yes," I don't know." "Don't know?" queried the inspector incredulously. "No, I've been living here four years. It's been running ever since I've been here." A plumber has since received a hurry call to that house.

Terror of the Air.

Wilfred—"Pa, a man who is continually on a ship is called a sea dog, isn't he?" Gunbusta—"That's what they call him, my boy." Wilfred—"Well, if he's a sea dog, then a man who is continually on an airship must be a skye terrier."—Judge.

Going the Rounds.

Borrowy—"Let's see—do I owe you anything?" Borrowy—"Not a cent, my boy. Going round paying your little debts?" Borrowy—"No, I was going round seeing if I had overlooked anybody. Lend me five till Saturday, will you?"—Lippincott's.

Reprieve Among Wits.

John G. Saxe, the poet, and Oliver Wendell Holmes were talking about brain fever, when Mr. Saxe remarked: "I once had a severe attack of brain fever myself." "How could you have brain fever?" asked Dr. Holmes, smiling. "It is only strong brains that have brain fever." "How did you find that out?" asked Saxe.

What the Doctor Says.

"We don't allow in our profession that hearts are broken, but there is such a thing as taking so little interest in life after some great calamity that a man is unable to keep up his end against the attacks made from time to time by the enemy."—R. E. Verneide in "Morial of the Moors."

Signs of Pittsburg.

A crazy man called on the mayor of Pittsburg and asked him to finance a railroad to heaven. With the exception of Pittsburg, Philadelphia would probably be the most available location for the other terminus of such a line.

SPRING OPENING

A Fashion Panorama. A Reviewal of the New---a Formal Showing of the Fabrics and Garments of Spring.

FASHIONS come and Fashions go. One has to be spry to keep up to the moment. The best and easiest way to do so, is to watch this store and its continuously changing stocks and styles.

When Fashions come, they come to this store first and when they go, they go from here long before they become passe. The period which, most definitely marks the "going and coming" time, is at the event of our "Spring Opening"—which occurs

SATURDAY, MARCH 23d

Our Spring Garments, Fabrics and Requisites go hand in hand with the style moment—if not a month or two ahead. We've been "spry" and we have been careful and skillful and successful in gathering the best that the most eminent factories and tailor shops of this and foreign countries produce.

It's to the initiatory exhibit of these things, we cordially invite you and your friends. We know you will enjoy the visit—we know you will gain many valuable style ideas—we know you will obtain many useful economy hints. And, if you don't come, we know you will regret it.

You might read style magazines and style articles for a month of Sundays and not gain one-tenth the amount of style knowledge, a visit here will give you. Why?—because style is something impossible to describe and better understood than expressed. Like Niagara—you don't appreciate it until you see it.

So much will do—on paper, concerning our Spring Opening. We hope to see you here Saturday, at the unfolding of our Spring modes. If you come, you'll learn more than pen can tell in volumes.
